#LancetWomen | www.lancet.com/lancet-women

The Lancet’s theme issue on advancing women in science, medicine, and global health

NYC Launch and Celebration: Feb. 11, 2019, 1:00-5:00PM

PROGRAM

1:00PM: Welcome
Bek Cooney, North American Executive Editor, The Lancet, Terry McGovern, Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health, and Gina Agiostratidou, Helmsley Charitable Trust

1:10PM: Session 1: Launch of the #LancetWomen theme issue
Jocalyn Clark, Executive Editor, The Lancet, Janine Clayton, NIH Office of Research on Women’s Health, and #LancetWomen advisory group members, Reshma Jagsi, University of Michigan, and Rosemary Morgan, Johns Hopkins University

1:50PM: Session 2: Global health in focus
Leadership on the tough issues: Evidence over Ideology: Terry McGovern, Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health, Sharmila Mhatre, Open Society Foundations, and Anita Zaidi, Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation

2:30PM: Session 3: Clinical medicine in focus
Women in Cardiology & Announcement of The Lancet’s Commission on women and cardiovascular health: Bek Cooney, The Lancet, and Birgit Vogel, Mt Sinai School of Medicine

3:10PM: Panel discussion
From Evidence to Action: What institutional leadership is needed now?: Nina Schwalbe, Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health (Moderator), Anne Taylor, Columbia University Vagelos College of Physicians and Surgeons, Laurie Garrett, journalist and author, Christine Laine, American College of Physicians, and Nana Kuo, Executive Office of the UN Secretary-General

4:00PM: Closing remarks and thank you
Bek Cooney and Jocalyn Clark, The Lancet

Until 5:00PM: Networking reception